NUMB. 34.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, SEPTEMBER 14, to Saturday, SEPTEMBER 21. 1734.

From the Ruſſian Camp before Dantzick, June 29.

DEMANDS made by the French Troops, encamped at Fahrwaſſer, for a Capitulation.

ARTICLE I.

WE demand Continuation of the Suſpenſion of Arms both by Sea and Land, for two Days to commence from the Expiration of the firſt, till the Concluſion of the Capitulation. Granted.

II. We demand that no Act of Hoſtility be committed againſt the Fort of Munde and Weſterſchantz, till we have taken out the Officers and Soldiers that are Sick or Wounded, with their Baggage, Surgeons, Overſeers, and Domeſticks; as alſo the Bakers and Workmen to the Troops, and the Detachments that are there, on both ſides of the River. Granted upon Condition that the Works ſhall not ceaſe on the Ruſſian ſide.

III. We demand all the Honours of War, to march from the Camp with Arms and Baggage, in order to return to France, with Drums beating and Colours flying, with the Equipage and Baggage of the Officers and Soldiers, Sutlers and Domeſticks, the Soldiers Wives and Children, which Soldiers, and their Baggage ſhall not be rummaged or ſearched; and that no Inſult be offered to any Perſon whatſoever. Granted in every Particular, with this Proviſo, That the Fort of Munde ſhall ſurrender at the End of twice 24 Hours above ſtipulated. The French Troops ſhall go on board the Ships by Companies, and as ſoon as they are on board, they ſhall ſurrender their Arms to be locked up, which ſhall be reſtored them when they quit the ſaid Ships; and this ſhall be executed bona fide.

IV. The Garde-Marine, with the Pilot and Sailors, ſhall likewiſe freely depart, with their Baggage, along with the Troops, as is aboveſaid, in Art. III. Granted.

V. The 15 French Gunners who came with the Troops, ſhall alſo freely go with them, and take their Baggage. Granted.

VI. The Commiſſary and Ordonnateur in the Retinue of the Troops, ſhall likewiſe freely retire with them, and have his Equipage and Domeſticks. Granted.

VII. We demand that a ſufficient Number of Ships be provided to carry the ſaid Troops and their Baggage to Copenhagen, with the neceſſary Proviſions for the Voyage. Granted thus far, that the Troops of France, and whatever belongs to them as above, ſhall be carried to one of the Ports of the Baltick, which ſhall be agreed upon with the Admiralt of the Ruſſian Fleet, where the Troops of France may eaſily go on board the Ships of the French Squadron or Merchants Ships.

VIII. From the Signing of the Capitulation to the Embarkation, we demand that the Officers, Soldiers, &c. be furniſhed with Proviſions. Granted. Proviſions ſhall be furniſhed gratis.

IX. We demand that the Officers and Soldiers who are ſick or wounded, may be ſupplied with the neceſſary Medicines. Thoſe who are able to bear the Sea, ſhall go with the Troops, and thoſe who cannot bear it ſhall be put in ſome Place of Safety, and furniſhed with Proviſions and Medicines till they are perfectly recovered, and capable of returning to France: and their Return ſhall be forwarded in the beſt manner. Granted. All imaginable Care ſhall be taken of the ſick and Wounded.

X. The French Soldiers ſhall not go from the Place which ſhall be preſcribed them, and agreed upon; The Soldiers of the Army of Ruſſia, Saxony, and others, ſhall be forbid to meddle with them, to debauch them, or to inſult them: and for this purpoſe it ſhall be permitted to place Guards on both ſides, to prevent them. Granted, provided that if any Deſerter from the Ruſſian or Saxon Army be found in the French Camp or in the Fort of Munde, he be neither enliſted nor protected by the Troops of France.

Signed,

The Count de Munich, General Field Marſhal and Commander of the Armies of Ruſſia.
John Adolphus, Duke of Saxony.

La Motte de Peirouſe.

WITH regard to his Excellency My Lord the Count de Munich's Anſwer to Article III. which ſays that the Fort of Munde ſhall be ſurrendered at the End of twice 24 Hours, as above ſtipulated, the Perſons furniſhed with Full Powers anſwer, that there being in the ſaid Fort a particular Commander with his Garriſon, where they have no Authority, it is impoſſible for them to execute what his Excellency deſires.

THE under-written Perſons furniſhed with Full Powers, being returned this 23d of June into the Camp of the Allies before Dantzick, again declaring that it was impoſſible for them any ways to bring about the Surrender of the Fort of Munde, and demanding the Excluſion of that Clauſe, the ſame was thereupon given up, and all the other Points of the Capitulation above ſigned were confirmed over again.

Camp of the Allies before Dantzick, this 23. June, 1734. Signed,

The Count de Munich, General Field Marſhal and Commander of the Armies of Ruſſia.
John-Adolphus, Duke of Saxony.

Hague, July 6. Letters from the Camp before Dantzick of June 29. adviſe, that the Evening before they granted the Deputies of Dantzick a Suſpenſion of Arms for three Days, in order to capitulate in that time; but that the Count de Munich having the next day received a Letter from the Magiſtrates, to let him know that King Staniſlaus was gone from the Town in the Night, that General renewed the Hoſtilities, ſo that when the Poſt came away there was great Firing on both ſides. Thoſe Letters add, that King Staniſlaus was accompanied by General Steinplicht and a Valet-de-Chambre; and that the Primate and the other Grandees were ſtill at Dantzick.

London, July 2. The Account of the late Engagement between the Impercialiſts and the Troops of the Allies in Italy, was handed hither by the way of France, and is ſuſpected to have loſt nothing in the Journey, ſince 'tis affirm'd by other hands, that the Number of Men kill'd on the Part of

of the Imperialists is as yet altogether unknown, and the Loss on the Side of the Allies equally uncertain. 'Tis confirm'd, that the Fight happen'd under the Walls of Parma, that the Germans were in a very disadvantagious Situation, that the Imperial Generals Count Merci, Count Wachtendonck, and Count Palfi, were kill'd on the spot, and that the Prince of Wirtemberg (who is first Cousin to her Majesty) was shot thro' the Body, but not dead when the Courier left Italy.

On the Side of the French, the Count de Coigni receiv'd a slight Wound in the Breast, and the Count de Broglio had two Horses kill'd under him: The French lost three Lieutenant-Generals, and the King's own Royal Regiment of foot had 125 Officers kill'd, most of them Noblemen of great Distinction.

The said Engagement happen'd the 29th, not the 30th of June, and the Number of Men slain on the part of the Imperialists, by the most credited of the present Accounts, does not exceed 9400.

On Tuesday last arrived here the Brigt. Mary Capt. Samuel Webber Commander, in 8 Weeks from Topsham, by whom we have the following fresh Advices.

From the Camp before Dantzick, July 3.

THE Escape of K. Stanislaus is now confirmed beyond Doubt; and 'tis said he is gone by Water to Dirshow, in order to join the Polish Troops assembled in the Neighbourhood of Thorn. The Capitulation which the Magistrats have made with Count Munich consists of 19 Articles and his Excellency insisted that one of the Gates of the City should be delivered up to him, as a Pledge of their Sincerity in performing the same, which was done accordingly. The Polish Lords who were in the City; acted separately from the Magistracy, and made no Difficulty to subscribe the following Act of Submission to King Augustus:

For as much as by the Permission of Divine Providence, by the present Circumstance of Things, and the Event we have seen this Day happen, it appears evidently the Will of God, that the most illustrious Elector of Saxony should reign in Poland; we the Underwritten, in Submission thereto, acknowledge and receive the said Elector of Saxony to be our Lord and King, in a just Persuasion that he will maintain and preserve inviolably the Rights, and Liberties, and Privileges, granted by his Predecessors, our Lords and Kings. In witness whereof we have sign'd these presents &c.

The Number of Polish Noblemen who subscrib'd the foregoing Act amounted to 46. The Primate refus'd to acknowledge King Augustus, and contented himself with writing to Count Munich, that he was willing to leave himself to the Wisdom and Generosity of the Empress of Russia. That Prelate has been since conducted under a Guard to St. Albrecht, and from thence will be carried to Elbing, together with Count Poniatowski. The other Lords are now in the Camp, and are magnificently entertain'd by the Count de Munich. The Marquis de Monti the French Ambassador, has been here to confer with the said General.

The Particulars which preceded the Capitulation were as follows: The Count de Munich having granted the City a Suspension of Arms for 3. Days, two Deputies waited on his Excellency from the Magistracy to settle Conditions, but his Excellency would not listen to any Proposals, unless he might be suffer'd to continue his Approaches during the Term of the Suspension; whereupon the Deputies, who could neither reject nor approve his Condition, returned to the City; and General Vittinghoft having soon after fir'd upon our Men, the Bombardment was soon renew'd with much Vigour. The next morning early came again the same Deputies with a Letter from the Magistracy, to excuse their breaking the Suspension; to implore the Protection of the Empress of Russia and the King of Poland, and to make known their Readiness to submit themselves to King Augustus 3d. their most gracious Sovereign, &c. and King Stanislaus having made his Escape the preceding Night, they thought proper to annex to the said Letter the following Certificate of the Marquis Monti: I Declare upon Honour, that neither the Polish Lords, nor the Magistrates of Dantzick, nor even the lowest Burgher, were any wise appriz'd of, or assisting to, the Retreat of the King of Poland.

LONDON July 6.

Letters from Paris of the 12th Inst. N. S. advise, that the King of Sardinia having return'd from Turin to the Army some few Hours after the Battle, his Majesty put himself the next morning at the head of the Troops of the Allies, and pursued the Enemy over the Rivers Parma, Lenza and Crostollo, as far as Secchia, obliging them to abandon the Modoneze; that a Detachment of French Troops at the same time marched to Guastalla, and found it guarded by a body of 1400 Germans; but these, after a short Resistance were made Prisoners of War. The same Letters add, that upwards of 230 wounded Prisoners were in the Hospitals of Parma, the same being found in the Field of Battle; that an Aid du camp sent from the Marshal de Coigny, had brought with him to Paris three of the five Standards taken from the Enemy; and the King of Sardinia desir'd to detain the other two, to put up as Trophies in his own Chappel; and lastly that Te Deum was to be sung on Monday last at Paris on occasion of their Success in this Engagement.
